

Share Knowledge

Help others improve by sharing what you've learned

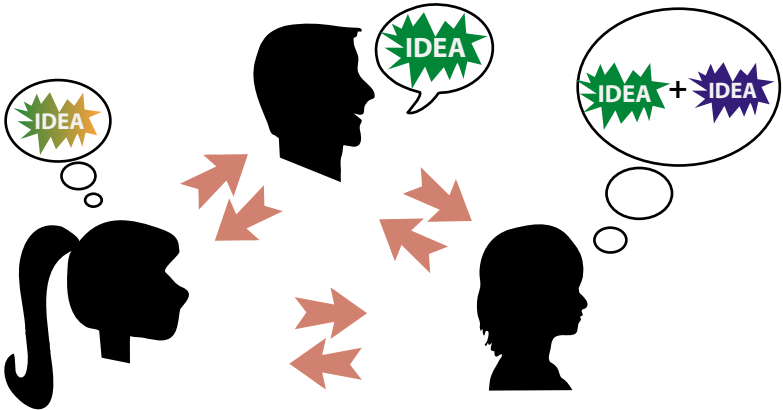

Sharing knowledge can help your company improve at a faster rate than leaving everyone to learn for themselves.

Learn from others around you

No matter what your position within a company, recognize that there is always someone who can teach you, and be willing to learn from them.

Increase people's willingness to communicate

When you set a standard of knowledge sharing, communications of all kinds will increase and new ideas will be created.

What I will do to apply this concept:

The date I will do it by:

I will share this knowledge with:

Recommended: Find a way to share ideas regularly, such as a blog or newsletter